REPULSE ATTACK ON SUEZ CANAL

British Defeat and Are Pursuing the Turks.

GERMANS AMONG PRISONERS

Commander Reports Enemy in Full Flight After Desperate Battle—British Capture 2,500 Men, Four Mountain Cannon and Many Machine Guns.

London, Aug. 7.—The strong Turkish force which attacked the British at Romani, twenty-two miles east of the Suez canal, on Aug. 4, was defeated and put to flight by a counter attack, an official statement issued says.

The Turks, the statement adds, are being pursued vigorously by the British, who have taken more than 2,500 prisoners, including some Germans. The official announcement says:

"The general officer commanding in chief reports under date of 11:15 p. m. Aug. 5, the following further details of the fighting in the vicinity of Romani on Aug. 5:

"The enemy made a frontal attack on the British entrenchment in conjunction with a flank attack around the southern flank, employing 14,000 men and heavy howitzers for the operation.

"The frontal attack was unsuccessful. Before the flank attack our mounted troops retired slowly and the enemy became involved in sand dunes late in the evening of Aug. 4.

"A counter attack was then made by all arms, which was completely successful and at dawn on Aug. 5 the pursuit of the retreating enemy was taken up with vigor and is being continued at the time this report is sent.

"The enemy suffered heavy losses. By 8 p. m. on Aug. 5, over 2,500 wounded prisoners, including some Germans, four mountain guns and a number of machine guns had been captured. Our casualties were not heavy.

"Australian and New Zealand mounted troops displayed steadiness in holding the strong flank attack and an energy and activity worthy of the highest praise in the pursuit. Territorial troops from England have done exceedingly well, especially in maneuvering over heavy sand in spite of the great heat.

"The monitors firing from the Bay of Tins assisted materially in the operations, while the work done by the royal flying corps was excellent."

SIX VILLAGES FALL INTO RUSSIAN HANDS

London, Aug. 7.—In Northern Galicia the Russians have struck another hard blow at the Teutonic allies and occupied along the Sereth and Graberski rivers, south of Brody, six villages and the entire ridge on which they are located.

Furious fighting marked the engagement, the Russians being forced in the villages to drive their adversaries from house to house. The Austro-Germans, at last reports, were bombarding violently their lost positions.

The Russians captured a regimental commander and 140 other officers and more than 5,500 men and also took numerous machine guns and bomb throwers.

Berlin admits that the Russians have gained the left bank of the Sereth river, but asserts that the Germans have made progress against the French in Chapultepec, near Verdun, and in mining operations against them in the Argonne; that the Russians have been driven from positions along the Stokhod river, south of Zareche, and that in the Carpathians the Germans are still operating successfully.

Slight advances for the British at Highwood and east of Pozieres, on the Somme front, and by the French southwest of Estres, south of the Somme front, and to the northwest of the Thiaumont work, near Verdun, are recorded in the British and French communications.

JOFFRE SURE OF VICTORY

Says Turning Point of Great War Has Been Passed.

Headquarters of the General Staff in France, Aug. 37.—General Joseph Joffre, generalissimo of the French army and the guiding spirit of the united army of the entente allies, talking to a group of correspondents, expressed the view that the turning point of the great conflict now has been successfully reached and passed, and, with the united action of the entente allies on many fronts, they were pressing forward to certain collapse of the German efforts and to an assured victory of the allied armies.

"Although the fighting is getting more and more bitter," General Joffre said, "every one recognizes in the complete unity of the allies that destiny has shaped its course and every one can clearly see what the final outcome is going to be."

"The enemy suffered heavy losses. By 8 p. m. on Aug. 5, over 2,500 wounded prisoners, including some Germans, four mountain guns and a number of machine guns had been captured. Our casualties were not heavy."

HAUL WATER OVER DESERT

Turks Overcome Obstacle in Advance on Suez Canal.

London, Aug. 7.—Turkish troops fighting the British army under General Sir Archibald Murray at Romani, twenty-three miles from the Suez canal, are ten miles from a supply of water.

Drinking water for the 14,000 men in the Turk command must be dragged ten miles over the desert from Auhratna. Bedouins can drink the water extracted from wells along the coast, but it is too brackish for Europeans. There are more than 1,000 Austro-Germans with the Turkish army.

The Turks must therefore have made thorough arrangements for the storage and transportation of water, the country being a pure sand desert.

AUSTRIAN PRISONERS ARE SENT TO FRANCE

Cagliari, Sardinia, Aug. 7.—About 18,000 Austrian prisoners, taken by the Serbians and transported from the Adriatic to the island of Asinara, near Sardinia, now have been taken to France. The transfers in both cases were effected by Italian vessels.

On Asinara island, barracks, encampments and huts have been built and roads constructed, thoroughly transforming the island, which is now ready to receive prisoners up to the number of 50,000.

The Austrian prisoners who had been confined on the island were given the same rations as Italian soldiers and some of them on their departure gave audible evidence of satisfaction with the treatment they had received.

FOR FIRE PREVENTION

Committee With Such Object in View
Organized by Commercial Club

Fire prevention committees should be organized in every city, town and village in Minnesota.

An instance of what a committee can do in this respect is shown in a report just prepared by R. W. Hargadine, state fire marshal.

In November, 1915, Mr. Hargadine had a general inspection made of Lakefield, Jackson county, and found conditions somewhat hazardous. Following the inspection Mr. Hargadine was a guest at a meeting of the Commercial club of that city. At the close of this meeting a fire prevention committee was formed by members of the club with the fire chief as chairman.

It was the duty of each member to investigate and report all premises which might be fire menaces and orders were issued following each report to the owner to "clean up."

What was the result? The fire marshal's department checking up from November, 1915, to August, 1916, found that there had not been one fire reported in Lakefield.

In checking back over the corresponding period in 1915 the fire marshal's record showed three serious fires resulting in an aggregate loss of $3,297. In one fire the loss was $2,904.

The public spirit of fire prevention was manifested by the business men of Lakefield from the conditions as found by a deputy in July this year; that they had all complied with orders and suggestions last year, and found the conditions excellent, which speaks well for this plan of reducing the fire waste.

A Boost For Barley.

"Barley is strangely neglected by the cook of today," says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. "As it contains more starch and sugar and less gluten than wheat, it might well take the place of the potato on our tables and this with benefit to pulse and health."

"One cup of barley will swell to five times its original size when cooked, and its uses are wonderfully varied."

"As a breakfast dish with sugar and cream it is rich and satisfying; for dinner, as a garnish for meat or with rich meat gravy, it makes a savory entree; at tea time cold steamed barley cut in slices and browned in hot butter, then served with maple syrup, is delicious."

"Combined with dried or fresh fruits it makes as wholesome desserts as rice. Indeed, there is no way in which rice may be prepared in which barley cannot be cooked with just as good results. Barley requires a long time to cook properly, but now we have the cereal cooker and the fireless cooker and with them the opportunity to have the perfect cereal."

Queer Use For Cordite.

Some years ago Lord Haldane started the house of commons when replying to a remark made by another member as to the danger attached to the use of cordite by saying that he himself possessed a walking stick made of cordite which he sometimes brought down to the house and left in the cloakroom. An uneasy look stole over the faces of the members present, but in a scientific and highly technical speech his lordship explained that cordite was a perfectly innocent substance until brought into contact with dangerous allies, and without certain ingredients necessary to convert it into an explosive it might be handled with impunity. At the same time it was noticed that Lord Haldane's stick was given a wide berth when it was seen in the cloakroom.

The First Comedy.

The first recorded comedy was played at Athens B. C. 578, when Susarion and Doion, the earliest traveling actors, performed a comedy of Susarion's composition on a movable stage mounted upon four wheels. The new form of play was so successful that the actors were rewarded by the grateful populace with a cask of wine and a basket of figs. Susarion belonged to Megaris, a state of ancient Greece, whose inhabitants were celebrated for their coarse humor and who in their villages during the evenings were wont to hold what they called a komos, really a revel, in which impromptu acting, coupled with buffoonery, played a considerable part. From this word we have our comedy.

Hate All Around.

The famous English chief Justice Holt and his wife hated each other to the limit, and when she fell dangerously ill he was so delighted that he became disgracefully tipsy. But his wife was equal to the emergency and sent for the great Dr. Radcliffe, who hated Holt, and therefore out of spite when the case was presented to him came with great promptness and saved her life.—Westminster Gazette.

FOR FIRE PREVENTION

Committee With Such Object in View
Organized by Commercial Club

Fire prevention committees should be organized in every city, town and village in Minnesota.

An instance of what a committee can do in this respect is shown in a report just prepared by R. W. Hargadine, state fire marshal.

In November, 1915, Mr. Hargadine had a general inspection made of Lakefield, Jackson county, and found conditions somewhat hazardous. Following the inspection Mr. Hargadine was a guest at a meeting of the Commercial club of that city. At the close of this meeting a fire prevention committee was formed by members of the club with the fire chief as chairman.

It was the duty of each member to investigate and report all premises which might be fire menaces and orders were issued following each report to the owner to "clean up."

What was the result? The fire marshal's department checking up from November, 1915, to August, 1916, found that there had not been one fire reported in Lakefield.

In checking back over the corresponding period in 1915 the fire marshal's record showed three serious fires resulting in an aggregate loss of $3,297. In one fire the loss was $2,904.

The public spirit of fire prevention was manifested by the business men of Lakefield from the conditions as found by a deputy in July this year; that they had all complied with orders and suggestions last year, and found the conditions excellent, which speaks well for this plan of reducing the fire waste.

A Woman's Kindly Act

Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncan Mills, Ill., writes: "I was stricken with lumbago, unable to turn in bed. A neighbor brought Foley Kidney Pills they cured her. I was cured by three bottles." If the kidneys do not function, lumbago, rheumatism, aches, pains are apt to result. H. P.

New York, Aug. 7.—Nexttime Dan

New York—Aug. 7.—After Harry Frank had been locked up for robbery, Charles Lyons, whose house was robbed, staked Frank to a dollar covered.

Cheap Lunch Checks

New York, Aug. 7.—When Division cents lunch checks to police guarding the Fifth Ave. lines where strikes are on Gen. Manager Maher changed em to 15 cents checks. Then Commissioner Woods refused to let the cops accept any "handout."

A Boost For Barley.

"Barley is strangely neglected by the cook of today," says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion. "As it contains more starch and sugar and less gluten than wheat, it might well take the place of the potato on our tables and this with benefit to pulse and health."

"One cup of barley will swell to five times its original size when cooked, and its uses are wonderfully varied."
"As a breakfast dish with sugar and cream it is rich and satisfying; for dinner, as a garnish for meat or with rich meat gravy, it makes a savory entree; at tea time cold steamed barley cut in slices and browned in hot butter, then served with maple syrup, is delicious."

"Combined with dried or fresh fruits
it makes as wholesome desserts as rice.
Indeed, there is no way in which rice may be prepared in which barley cannot be cooked with just as good results. Barley requires a long time to cook properly, but now we have the cereal cooker and the fireless cooker and with them the opportunity to have the perfect cereal."

Queer Use For Cordite.

Some years ago Lord Haldane started the house of commons when replying to a remark made by another member as to the danger attached to the use of cordite by saying that he himself possessed a walking stick made of cordite which he sometimes brought down to the house and left in the cloakroom. An uneasy look stole over the faces of the members present, but in a scientific and highly technical speech his lordship explained that cordite was a perfectly innocent substance until brought into contact with dangerous allies, and without certain ingredients necessary to convert it into an explosive it might be handled with impunity. At the same time it was noticed that Lord Haldane's stick was given a wide berth when it was seen in the cloakroom.

The First Comedy.

The first recorded comedy was played at Athens B. C. 578, when Susrion and Dolon, the earliest traveling actors, performed a comedy of Susrion's composition on a movable stage mounted upon four wheels. The new form of play was so successful that the actors were rewarded by the grateful populace with a cask of wine and a basket of figs. Susrion belonged to Megaris, a state of ancient Greece, whose inhabitants were celebrated for their coarse humor and who in their villages during the evenings were wont to hold what they called a comus, really a revel, in which impromptu acting, coupled with buffoonery, played a considerable part.
From this word we have our comedy.

Hate All Around.

The famous English chief justice Holt and his wife hated each other to the limit, and when she fell dangerously ill he was so delighted that he became disgracefully tipsy. But his wife was equal to the emergency and sent for the great Dr. Radcliffe, who bathed Holt, and therefore out of spite when the case was presented to him came with great promptness and saved her life.—Westminster Gazette.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Prickly Heat.

Never use soap on a child suffering from prickly heat. Wash its sensitive skin with starch water, using a half teaspoonful of starch to a small baby tub of water. Keep the skin dusted with talcum powder. Morning and evening the child should be sponged from head to foot with a solution of bicarbonate of soda—a teaspoonful dissolved in a pint of hot water. Use when lukewarm. The soda water relieves the burning sensation and itching. Unless one has suffered from this affection she cannot imagine the misery of the little child who is covered all over its body or in parts with a fine red rash that stings, burns and pricks like needles. It is sometimes necessary to call in a physician to treat the baby when the condition causes great restlessness and nervousness and loss of sleep.

A Few Words.

"Did you have many words with your wife last night?"
"No; only a few words, but they were repeated—very often."

ENTERTAIN AUTO PARTY

Brainerd People Guests of Mrs. Ida Chillen and Daughter at Neutral

Mrs. Ida Chillen and daughter, Miss Hilma, entertained an auto party from Brainerd at their fine country home near Neutral Sunday. The party left Brainerd Sunday morning in two cars and included John Chillen, Hilmer Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson and son, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Anderson and son, Mrs. John Soderlund, Miss Mary Soderlund, Miss Elvira Anderson and Melvin Headstrom.

At the Empress

The story of John Junior in "The Jester." Bob Blair is the ne'er-do-well son of John Blair, a steel magnate. The Steel Trust is trying to acquire the elder Blair's plant, and the newspapers controlled by the trust attack his son mercilessly. Jane Whitman, star "sob sister" of a metropolitan daily, writes a series of stinging satires at his expense, calling him a worthless jester at sacred things. These articles sting Bob into a realization of his uselessness, and he starts to learn his father's business. Jane is assigned to get an interview with Bob to make further fun of him, but she is so impressed with his new earnestness that she writes a glowing tribute to him. She is fired from the newspaper for this, but Bob hires her as his secretary. Together they foil many of the trust's plots, and when the elder Blair is successful in his fight with the monopoly, Bob marries her. The principals are John Junior, Gertrude Glover and William Burke.

A mixup in black is one of the most clever farce comedies of the year and all who see this production are assured a hearty laugh.

Tomorrow Francis Ford and Grace Cunard in "Peg 'O the Ringe" stage the most thrilling episode of the play, also the drama and comedy which accompany the series are corkers.

At the Best

The Best theatre present Virginia Pearson in "Blazing Love" a tremendous production in six acts, showing this popular stage and screen actress in the leading role, backed by an all star cast. The whole life story of a wife and her problems told with a striking moral in the big William Fox feature. Tomorrow Lillian Gish appears in the latest Triangle photoplay, "Sold for Marriage" an exceptionally strong drama produced by D. W. Griffith dealing with the strongest emotions known, "Love and Hate."

The Keystone comedy with "Fatty" Arbuckle in "The Other Man" is such a slap bang comedy it will jar you loose from the seat.

The Title "Engineer."

It is unfortunate, according to the Engineering Record, that in America most people associate the word "engineer" with a man who runs an engine or a boiler. Even the man who operates the boilers of an apartment building is called an "engineer," although the name is entirely a misnomer when applied to him. He may be a good mechanic, but he is not an engineer. The gray haired man who drives the locomotive of a transcontinental limited and who holds the lives of hundreds of human beings in his care belongs to the very highest type of mechanic, but he is not an engineer, except in the United States and Canada. All foreign languages have words that properly designate the work these men are doing. In our country there is no word to distinguish them from the bridge builder, the sanitary expert, etc.

Who the Letts Are.

The Letts are a branch of the Lithuanian nation, a Slavonic division, and dwellers in the Baltic provinces of Russia. Lithuania was at one time a great kingdom, later a part of the Polish nation and now embodied in Russia and Prussia. The Letts, a subdivision of the Lithuanian people, at present number more than 2,000,000. They are of average height, well built, but seldom very tall. The finely cut features, fair hair, blue eyes and delicate skins are characteristics that distinguish a Lett from a Pole or a Russian.—Philadelphia Press.

Night Bathing in Lake Michigan Saved Many

Night bathing in Lake Michigan saved thousands of persons during the recent hot spell in Chicago. Parts of the lake front swarmed with women bathers till late hours of the night. It was the only way they had to cool off from the great heat of the day. The custom may now be so well established that night bathing will become a regular feature of the summer.

TODAY'S NORTHWEST ODDITY

Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 7.—Twelve years ago Christian Maier, in Russia, marched away to war. Peter Goebel, his rival in love, went along. Just before leaving, Maier married the girl they wooed. Goebel returned, injured. He told Mrs. Maier her husband was killed in action, wooed and wed her. They came here. Then Maier followed, not knowing his wife had married. Looking in the window, like Enoch Arden, he saw the happy couple. Under an assumed name, he took up a homestead, nearby. Brooding over the affair unbalanced him. He was taken away to an insane hospital today.

Feats of Endurance.

What is the limit of human endurance? A bomb thrower has hurled bombs continuously for forty-one hours. There are numerous striking and more peaceful record breaking feats. A club swinging champion once swung his clubs for forty-six hours without a moment's rest.

A young Brixton athlete once swung a blacksmith's hammer for twelve hours on end. Then this same modern Samson belabored a punching bag continuously for fifteen hours at the average rate of 145 punches a minutes.

A few years ago two Frenchmen walked round and round a billiard table, playing game after game and covering sixty miles for twenty-four consecutive hours.

A band of change ringers once rang the bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, for eight hours without pausing.

A certain Polish lady danced, with only momentary rests, for thirty-four hours, while an Italian dancer danced for fourteen hours at the rate of eighteen waltzes an hour.—London Stray Stories.

Devil Worship in Tibet.

The religion inculcated by Buddha had certain cardinal points—the encouragement of the ascetic life, the maintenance of virtue, the exhortation to persons of all castes and both sexes to aim at deliverance from the evils of existence and, lastly, the attainment of Nirvana.

But in Tibet Buddhism has been grafted on to the earlier devil worship of the people, and a religion has been evolved better expressed as Lamaism, or modified devil worship, so that in addition to the Buddhas and Bodhisats there have also come to be tutelary and guardian deities of a terrifying and malignant aspect, whose duty it is to defend the faith and the faithful people from external attack. These deities are depicted in grotesque and terrible forms in all the monasteries, generally in violently colored fresco paintings at the entrance.—National Geographic Magazine.

Italy Also Has Blacklist.

Rome, Aug. 7.—Italian subjects, even those residing abroad, are forbidden to maintain business relations with the enemy or allies of the enemy by an official decree just published. The decree, aimed particularly at trading between Italians and Germans, declares all such contracts null and void and the parties liable to severe punishment.

TRYING TO RESCUE WOMEN

Two Men Lose Their Lives in Kokosing River.

Mount Vernon, O., Aug. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mowery of Danville, O.; Mrs. Don Graven of Akron and Isaac Parsons of Glenmont were drowned at the Kokosing river near Rocky Hollow camp.

The men were dragged under while trying to rescue the women. Two small daughters of the Mowerys were the only witnesses to the tragedy which terminated a family picnic. The children ran to a nearby camp for help.

The Head of the House

By ELENOR HOLMES

"Martha," said Mrs. Bumbleton, "how long are you going to let your husband tyrannize over you?"

"Tyrannize over me? Why, mother, what do you mean?"

"I mean just what I say. William is a tyrant. Didn't I hear him refuse to give you the money you needed for your fall hat?"

Martha thought a moment, then smiled. "You heard me ask him for $5 for a hat. He said he would not give me $5, for I couldn't get much of a hat for that. He gave me $10."

"Oh, he did, did he? He probably did that to make you feel easy at having to go without a new cloak. Ten dollars for a hat saves $40 for a cloak."

"But I don't need a cloak. I spent $100 for one last November."

"What! That old thing with a sheep-skin collar! It isn't fit for a servant girl to wear."

"Why, mother, dear, that collar is mild, and the cloak is as good as new."

"That's not saying much for it. You are the shabbiest dressed woman I know of. When I was your age I made your father pony up for what I wore. I told him it would be time enough for me to dress shabby when I'd got old. I didn't intend to look like a bundle of rags when I was young and handsome. As soon as we were married I let him understand that I wasn't to be his slave. And that's what every wife needs to do right off. The longer she puts off the harder it's going to be to get the upper hand."

"But, mother, I don't want the upper hand. Will and I manage our affairs jointly."

"If your father would have listened to me we would have been rich today. Of course I couldn't go into his store and run it; I had too much to do at home. The consequence is he was always buying goods he couldn't sell and trusting persons who wouldn't pay, and that's the reason I've had to be contented to be a poor man's wife. But when I had him at home I tell you I made him too the mark."

The young wife smiled. She knew her mother's idiosyncrasies, and she knew, too, that actors are not usually talkers. She considered her mother harmless, and instead of being influenced by her she humored her.

"You must remember, mother," she said, "that all women don't have the firmness that you have."

Now, during the last words of this dialogue Mr. Bumbleton came into the house and walked upstairs. His wife's hearing was not of the best, and she was not aware of his approach. On reaching the door of the room where mother and daughter were talking he paused and looked in. His wife's back was to him, while his daughter faced him. When his wife spoke her last sentence he smiled at Martha, then, assuming a severe expression, walked into the room.

"Amelia," he said to his wife sternly, "I thought I told you to have the lock on the front door fixed. I've been fumbling with it for a long time. I come home tired with business, thinking I have a wife at home to attend to these little necessities, and, behold, nothing is done. Why didn't you do as I told you?"

"Why, Henry, I forgot it."

"Forgot it! Do you consider that any excuse for neglecting your duties?"

"Now, Henry, I'm awful sorry!"

"Sorry! Does being sorry prevent my struggling to get into my own house half the afternoon? Hereafter I'd have you to understand that when I tell you to do anything I want you to do it."

"I'll telephone for the locksmith at once." And she started for the booth.

"Come back here. Don't you know you can't get a workman after 5 o'clock? What's the matter with you, anyway?"

During this storming the father cast occasional glances at his daughter, who frowned her orders for him to desist. At this point she broke in:

"Tapa, you are very unkind. Mother didn't feel well this morning and I told her she had better lie down and take a rest while I made her a cup of tea. She didn't eat much breakfast, you know. There now; that's a good papa! Don't scold any more."

With this she went to her father and put her hand over his mouth.

"Very well; for your sake, my dear, I'll overlook your mother's negligence this time, but if it occurs again!"

He got no further, for his words were stopped by a kiss from Martha.

At that moment Martha's husband came in.

"What's up?" he asked.

"Oh, nothing much," replied his father-in-law. "I just found it necessary to exercise my authority as head of the house. I would recommend you to begin your wife's training early."

"That'll do, papa," said Martha. "You needn't trouble yourself to instruct my husband as to how he shall treat me. I'll attend to that."

"Just so." Then to his wife, "Is dinner ready, dear?"

"I'll go and see."

The poor woman hustled out and in a few moments called for the others to come to dinner. Mr. Bumbleton opened a bottle of wine and called to the others to join him in drinking the health of the best woman in the world, though he confessed that at times she was a trifle forgetful.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Prickly Heat.

Never use soap on a child suffering from prickly heat. Wash its sensitive skin with starch or water, using a half teaspoonful of starch to a small baby tub of water. Keep the skin dusted with talcum powder. Morning and evening the child should be sponged from head to foot with a solution of bicarbonate of soda—a teaspoonful dissolved in a pint of hot water. Use when lukewarm. The soda water relieves the burning sensation and itching. Unless one has suffered from this affection she cannot imagine the misery of the little child who is covered all over its body or in parts with a fine red rash that stings, burns and pricks like needles. It is sometimes necessary to call in a physician to treat the baby when the condition causes great restlessness and nervousness and loss of sleep.

A Few Words.

"Did you have many words with your wife last night?"
"No; only a few words, but they were repeated—very often."

A Season of Torture For Some

ENTERTAIN AUTO PARTY

Brainerd People Guests of Mrs. Ida Chillen and Daughter at Neutral

Mrs. Ida Chillen and daughter, Miss Hilma, entertained an auto party from Brainerd at their fine country home near Neutral Sunday. The party left Brainerd Sunday morning in two cars and included John Chillen, Hilmer Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson and son, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Anderson and son, John Soderlund, Miss Mary Soderlund, Miss Elvira Anderson and Melvin Headstrom.

The hostesses served a sumptuous chicken dinner and the afternoon was very pleasantly spent in the beautiful grove which runs through the farm. Supper was served later and enjoyed by the guests, who returned in the evening. Mrs. Chillen, her sons John and William, and daughter, Miss Hilma, will soon leave for Canada to make their future home.

At the Empress

The story of John Junior in "The Jester;" Bob Blair is the ne'er-do-well son of John Blair, a steel magnate. The Steel Trust is trying to acquire the elder Blair's plant, and the newspapers controlled by the trust attack his son mercilessly. Jane Whitman, star "sob sister" of a metropolitan daily, writes a series of stinging satires at his expense, calling him a worthless jester at sacred things. These articles sting Bob into a realization of his uselessness, and he starts to learn his father's business. Jane is assigned to get an interview with Bob to make further fun of him, but she is so impressed with his new earnestness that she writes a glowing tribute to him. She is fired from the newspaper for this, but Bob hires her as his secretary. Together they foil many of the trust's plots, and when the older Blair is successful in his fight with the monopoly, Bob marries her. The principals are John Junior, Gertrude Glover and William Burke.

A mixup in black is one of the most clever farce comedies of the year and all who see this production are assured a hearty laugh.

Tomorrow Francis Ford and Grace Cunard in "Peg O' the Ring" stage the most thrilling episode of the play, also the drama and comedy which accompany the series are corkers.

At the Best

The Best theatre present Virginia Pearson in "Blazing Love" a tremendous production in six acts, showing this popular stage and screen actress in the leading role, backed by an all star cast. The whole life story of a wife and her problems told with a striking moral in the big William Fox feature. Tomorrow Lillian Gish appears in the latest Triangle photoplay, "Sold for Marriage" an exceptionally strong drama produced by D. W. Griffith dealing with the strongest emotions known, "Love and Hate."

The Keystone comedy with "Fatty" Arbuckle in "The Other Man" is such a slap bang comedy it will jar you loose from the seat.

The Title "Engineer."

It is unfortunate, according to the Engineering Record, that in America most people associate the word "engineer" with a man who runs an engine or a boiler. Even the man who operates the boilers of an apartment building is called an "engineer," although the name is entirely a misnomer when applied to him. He may be a good mechanic, but he is not an engineer. The gray haired man who drives the locomotive of a transcontinental limited and who holds the lives of hundreds of human beings in his care belongs to the very highest type of mechanic, but he is not an engineer, except in the United States and Canada. All foreign languages have words that properly designate the work these men are doing. In our country there is no word to distinguish them from the bridge builder, the sanitary expert, etc.

Who the Letts Are.

The Letts are a branch of the Lithuanian nation, a Slavonic division, and dwellers in the Baltic provinces of Russia. Lithuania was at one time a great kingdom, later a part of the Polish nation and now embodied in Russia and Prussia. The Letts, a subdivision of the Lithuanian people, at present number more than 2,000,000. They are of average height, well built, but seldom very tall. The finely cut features, fair hair, blue eyes and delicate skin are characteristics that distinguish a Lett from a Pole or a Russian.—Philadelphia Press.

Night Bathing in Lake Michigan Saved Many

Night bathing in Lake Michigan saved thousands of persons during the recent hot spell in Chicago. Parts of the lake front swarmed with women bathers till late hours of the night. It was the only way they had to cool off from the great heat of the day. The custom may now be so well established that night bathing will become a regular feature of the summer.

TODAY'S NORTHWEST ODDITY

Jamestown, N. D., Aug. 7.—Twelve years ago Christian Maier, in Russia, marched away to war. Peter Goebel, his rival in love, went along. Just before leaving, Maier married the girl they wooed. Goebel returned, injured. He told Mrs. Maier her husband was killed in action, wooed and wed her. They came here. Then Maier followed, not knowing his wife had married. Looking in the window, like Enoch Arden, he saw the happy couple. Under an assumed name, he took up a homestead, nearby. Brooding over the affair unbalanced him. He was taken away to an insane hospital today.

Feats of Endurance.

What is the limit of human endurance?

A bomb thrower has hurled bombs continuously for forty-one hours. There are numerous striking and more peaceful record breaking feats. A club swinging champion once swung his club for forty-six hours without a moment's rest.

A young Briton athlete once swung a blacksmith's hammer for twelve hours on end. Then this same modern Samson belabored a punching bag continuously for fifteen hours at the average rate of 145 punches a minute.

A few years ago two Frenchmen walked round and round a billiard table, playing game after game and covering sixty miles for twenty-four consecutive hours.

A hand of change fingers once rang the bells of St. Martin's, Birmingham, for eight hours without pausing.

A certain Polish lady danced, with only momentary rests, for thirty-four hours, while an Italian dancer danced for fourteen hours at the rate of eighteen waltzes an hour.—London Stray Stories.

Devil Worship in Tibet.

The religion inculcated by Buddha had certain cardinal points—the encouragement of the ascetic life, the maintenance of virtue, the exhortation to persons of all castes and both sexes to aim at deliverance from the evils of existence and, lastly, the attainment of Nirvana.

But in Tibet Buddhism has been grafted on to the earlier devil worship of the people, and a religion has been evolved better expressed as Lamaism, or modified devil worship, so that in addition to the Buddhas and Bodhisattvas there have also come to be tutelary and guardian deities of a terrifying and malignant aspect, whose duty it is to defend the faith and the faithful people from external attack. These deities are depicted in grotesque and terrible forms in all the monasteries, generally in violently colored fresco paintings at the entrance.—National Geographic Magazine.

Two Men Lose Their Lives in Kokosing River.

Mount Vernon, O., Aug. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Mowery of Danville, O.; Mrs. Don Graven of Akron and Isaac Parsons of Glenmont were drowned at the Kokosing river near Rocky Hollow camp.

The men were dragged under while trying to rescue the women. Two small daughters of the Mowerys were the only witnesses to the tragedy which terminated a family picnic. The children ran to a nearby camp for help.

The Head of the House

By ELENOR HOLMES

"Martha," said Mrs. Bumbleton, "how long are you going to let your husband tyrannize over you?"

"Tyrannize over me? Why, mother, what do you mean?"

"I mean just what I say. William is a tyrant. Didn't I hear him refuse to give you the money you needed for your fall hat?"

Martha thought a moment, then smiled. "You heard me ask him for $5 for a hat. He said he would not give me $5, for I couldn't get much of a hat for that. He gave me $10."

"Oh, he did, did he? He probably did that to make you feel easy at having to go without a new cloak. Ten dollars for a hat saves $40 for a cloak."

"But I don't need a cloak. I spent $100 for one last November."

"What! That old thing with a sheep-skin collar! It isn't fit for a servant girl to wear."

"Why, mother, dear, that collar is mine, and the cloak is as good as new."

"That's not saying much for it. You are the shabbiest dressed woman I know of. When I was your age I made your father pony up for what I wore. I told him it would be time enough for me to dress shabby when I'd got old. I didn't intend to look like a bundle of rags when I was young and handsome. As soon as we were married I let him understand that I wasn't to be his slave. And that's what every wife needs to do right off. The longer she puts off the harder it's going to be to get the upper hand."

"But, mother, I don't want the upper hand. Will and I manage our affairs jointly."

"If your father would have listened to me we would have been rich today. Of course I couldn't go into his store and run it; I had too much to do at home. The consequence is he was always buying goods he couldn't sell and trusting persons who wouldn't pay, and that's the reason I've had to be contented to be a poor man's wife. But when I had him at home I tell you I made him toe the mark."

The young wife smiled. She knew her mother's idiosyncrasies, and she knew, too, that actors are not usually talkers. She considered her mother harmless, and instead of being influenced by her she humored her.

"You must remember, mother," she said, "that all women don't have the firmness that you have."

Now, during the last words of this dialogue Mr. Bumbleton came into the house and walked upstairs. His wife's hearing was not of the best, and she was not aware of his approach. On reaching the door of the room where mother and daughter were talking he paused and looked in. His wife's back was to him, while his daughter faced him. When his wife spoke her last sentence he smiled at Martha, then, assuming a severe expression, walked into the room.

"Amelia," he said to his wife sternly, "I thought I told you to have the lock on the front door fixed. I've been fumbling with it for a long time. I come home tired with business, thinking I have a wife at home to attend to these little necessities, and, behold, nothing is done. Why didn't you do as I told you?"

"Why, Henry, I forgot it."
"Forgot it! Do you consider that any excuse for neglecting your duties?"

"Now, Henry, I'm awful sorry."
"Sorry! Does being sorry prevent my struggling to get into my own house half the afternoon? Hereafter I'd have you to understand that when I tell you to do anything I want you to do it."

"I'll telephone for the locksmith at once." And she started for the booth.
"Come back here. Don't you know you can't get a workman after 5 o'clock? What's the matter with you, anyway?"

During this storming the father cast occasional glances at his daughter, who frowned her orders for him to desist. At this point she broke in:

"Papa, you are very unkind. Mother didn't feel well this morning and I told her she had better lie down and take a rest while I made her a cup of tea. She didn't eat much breakfast, you know. There now; that's a good papa! Don't scold any more."

With this she went to her father and put her hand over his mouth.

"Very well; for your sake, my dear, I'll overlook your mother's negligence this time, but if it occurs again!"

He got no further, for his words were stopped by a kiss from Martha. At that moment Martha's husband came in.

"What's up?" he asked.
"Oh, nothing much," replied his father-in-law. "I just found it necessary to exercise my authority as head of the house. I would recommend you to begin your wife's training early."

"That'll do, papa," said Martha. "You needn't trouble yourself to instruct my husband as to how he shall treat me. I'll attend to that."
"Just so." Then to his wife, "Is dinner ready, dear?"
"I'll go and see."

The poor woman hustled out and in a few moments called for the others to come to dinner. Mr. Bumbleton opened a bottle of wine and called to the others to join him in drinking the health of the best woman in the world, though he confessed that at times she was a trifle forgetful.

DEMOCRATS WORK TO WIN NEW YORK

Uncertainty Rules Political Situation In Empire State.

REPUBLICANS ORGANIZED.

Upstate Democracy Seems Somewhat
Distrustful of Tammany—Difficulty
In Selecting Candidate For Governor to Oppose Whitman—Republicans
Sure to Attack Mexican Policy.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—While many men in politics will assert "We can win without New York," the old timers, those who have been in the game many years, still insist that New York is essential to the success of either party in the coming presidential contest. And, no matter what they may say, it is certain that every effort of the Democratic managers will be bent toward carrying New York for Mr. Wilson.

The one cloud upon the air of Democratic confidence is the situation in New York. This great city and the broad expanse of up state farming and manufacturing interests are yet to be canvassed and catalogued, and even then there will be a great deal of uncertainty. No one can tell what the great mass of independent voters will do, and there are more independent voters proportionately in New York than any other state in the Union.

Republicans Better Organized.

It appears that the Republicans are better organized and in better condition for the campaign. The Democrats have not recovered from the Sulzer fiasco. As usual the up state Democracy is distrustful of Tammany and jealous of the growing control of Tammany in the politics of the state. Tammany controls half of the state in population at present and by influence quite a lot more.

There is difficulty about the selection of a candidate for governor. Then there is the same old light within the party as to conservatism and radicalism. Most of the Democrats in New York would prefer to be conservative, but it is recognized that the progressive element is in control nationally, and it follows that the same element will control in the state. This may cause conservatives to leave the party and in such number as to make party success doubtful.

Thus it appears that the Democrats have their troubles in spite of their high hopes.

Will Attack Mexican Policy.

No matter if the Democrats do insist that making Mexico an issue is hitting below the belt, that is what the Republicans are going to do. Mexico will be featured in the campaign, and it is expected that many people will turn to the Republican party because they disapprove the administration's Mexican policy. The great difficulty will be to get people interested in Mexico when the world war is so absorbing.

Willcox Knows Politics.

The quiet manner in which Chairman Willcox has proceeded thus far in the campaign has given the impression that he is new in the game of politics and is feeling his way. But Willcox knows about politics. He was a lieutenant under Lexow more than twenty years ago. He has been captain of his district, postmaster of New York and public service commissioner, appointed by Roosevelt to the former position and by Hughes to the latter. He knows the political game, particularly in New York.

Getting Good Men.

The Democratic campaign managers intend to have good men and evidently are so fixed as to compensate the right kind. They took Robert W. Woolley, who was director of the mint, and Dandel C. Roper, who was first assistant postmaster general, and placed them in important positions at the national headquarters. Both of these men know the political situation, and they also know a great many men in different parts of the country.

Delivery of a Party.

"Voters of any political party hate to be delivered," was the comment of a man who remembered the campaign of 1896. He told how hard it was to get the Populists to stay with the Democratic party, although the Populists in national convention had nominated Bryan, and Bryan stood for all the principles of the Populist party. At the same time they were delivered in such numbers as to give Bryan a larger vote than that cast for any Democratic candidate before or since.

Can't Turn Down Whitman.

One thing seems plainly apparent—the Republicans must nominate Whitman for governor of New York again. He is the personal and political friend of Hughes, the presidential candidate. He is in such a position that to nominate another candidate would disrupt the party. He will have a fight, but he made a good campaign two years ago and will be in the thick of things.

Not All Parlor Politics.

This is not going to be an entirely ladylike campaign. There will be a certain amount of hard hitting and perhaps mud slinging. One thing will lead to another, and there will be bitter political feeling displayed.

Houses In Bagdad.

A Bagdad house in the summer is a fiery furnace, and no one, unless his name be Shadrach or Meshach or Abednego, could live within its four walls with comfort, and yet the natives have made a brave attempt to overcome the difficulties of their situation. Deep in the ground they have built cellars, or serdabs, and these serve as cooling chambers. The cellars are kept pretty dark. "The light enters," says one who has lived there, "through small windows, or openings, where, instead of glass, is placed a lattice of palm filled with a prickly camel's thorn. Several times a day the occupants sprinkle water on these thorns, and the moisture cools the hot wind as it passes through the rooms and gives a comparatively refreshing breeze. But toward night these cellars become unbearably close, and then the entire city mounts to the flat roofs, where it dines and sleeps."—Boston Transcript.

Warships In Battle.

In the days of wooden war vessels two frigates, or line-of-battle ships, might be lashed together and fire shot into each other's interiors for an indefinite period. When Paul Jones was summoned to surrender he replied that he had not yet begun to fight. At a distance of eight miles there would not be much conversation between hostile commanders, even by signals, and after a vessel is hit there isn't much question as to its future. A vessel may be injured by gunfire and get away, but if a floating steel fort is hit below the armor belt by a torpedo or has its deck penetrated by a fifteen inch shell which meets expectations it does not remain in sight many minutes, and the crew can't float around on spars until they are picked up, for there are no spars. In ten minutes the formidable warship goes under and carries everybody on board.—Philadelphia Record.

Words and Actions.

"Is Bliggins a patriot?"
"Yes, but he's the kind that would be more useful in a school of elocution than in a training camp."—Washington Star.

Largest Agricultural Warehouse.
New Orleans has the largest agricultural warehouse in the world. It has a capacity of 2,000,000 bales of cotton and is adapted to the storage of all other packed commodities, such as sugar and coffee. It was built at a cost of $3,500,000 by the state of Louisiana and is said to reduce the cost of handling any agricultural commodity 40 per cent. Lock Canals.
The Egyptians had canals before the days of St. Paul, but the lock canal which made it possible to cross mountains in a boat came only a few years before Columbus discovered America.

To be told that Raphael in his spare moments when not painting a Raphael was constructing a locomotive would scarcely surprise you more than to be told that Leonardo da Vinci was a pioneer canal lock builder.

But the hand that put upon the walls of that historic church in Milan "The Last Supper" also designed the locks for Milan's canal.

That was just five years before another Italian from the nearby town of Genoa sailing a Spanish ship came to anchor at San Salvador. Before the lock system was born canals had to be on level ground, although in China they had them on slight inclines—Philadelphia Ledger.

Green Flash of Sunset.

One of the most rarely witnessed of natural phenomena, but one that has often been discussed at scientific meetings and that always awakens wonder when seen, is the so called "green flash" occasionally visible at the moment of the disappearance of the sun behind a clear horizon. The observer's eye must be fixed upon the rim of the sun as it disappears in order to catch the phenomenon. One authority tells us that he has seen the green flash, although rarely, at the instant of the setting of a bright star. Among the explanations offered is one based upon the optical principle of complementary colors. If one looks at the sun and then closes the eyes a green disk will be perceived. A sensitive eye might be similarly affected by a brilliant star.

DEMOCRATS WORK TO WIN NEW YORK

Uncertainty Rules Political Situation In Empire State.

REPUBLICANS ORGANIZED.

Upstate Democracy Seems Somewhat Distrustful of Tammany—Difficulty In Selecting Candidate For Governor to Oppose Whitman—Republicans Sure to Attack Mexican Policy.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—While many men in politics will assert "We can win without New York," the old timers, those who have been in the game many years, still insist that New York is essential to the success of either party in the coming presidential contest. And, no matter what they may say, it is certain that every effort of the Democratic managers will be bent toward carrying New York for Mr. Wilson.

The one cloud upon the air of Democratic confidence is the situation in New York. This great city and the broad expanse of up state farming and manufacturing interests are yet to be canvassed and catalogued, and even then there will be a great deal of uncertainty. No one can tell what the great mass of independent voters will do, and there are more independent voters proportionately in New York than in any other state in the Union.

Republicans Better Organized.

It appears that the Republicans are better organized and in better condition for the campaign. The Democrats have not recovered from the Sutter fiasco. As usual the up state Democracy is distrustful of Tammany and jealous of the growing control of Tammany in the politics of the state. Tammany controls half of the state in population at present and by influence quite a lot more.

There is difficulty about the selection of a candidate for governor. Then there is the same old fight within the party as to conservatism and radicalism. Most of the Democrats in New York would prefer to be conservative, but it is recognized that the progressive element is in control nationally, and it follows that the same element will control in the state. This may cause conservatives to leave the party and in such number as to make party success doubtful.

Thus it appears that the Democrats have their troubles in spite of their high hopes.

Will Attack Mexican Policy.

No matter if the Democrats do insist that making Mexico an issue is hitting below the belt, that is what the Republicans are going to do. Mexico will be featured in the campaign, and it is expected that many people will turn to the Republican party because they disapprove the administration's Mexican policy. The great difficulty will be to get people interested in Mexico when the world war is so absorbing.

Willcox Knows Politics.

The quiet manner in which Chairman Willcox has proceeded thus far in the campaign has given the impression that he is new in the game of politics and is feeling his way. But Willcox knows about politics. He was a lieutenant under Lexow more than twenty years ago. He has been captain of his district, postmaster of New York and public service commissioner, appointed by Roosevelt to the former position and by Hughes to the latter. He knows the political game, particularly in New York.

Getting Good Men.

The Democratic campaign managers intend to have good men and evidently are so fixed as to compensate the right kind. They took Robert W. Woolley, who was director of the mint, and Daniel C. Roper, who was first assistant postmaster general, and placed them in important positions at the national headquarters. Both of these men know the political situation, and they also know a great many men in different parts of the country.

Delivery of a Party.
"Voters of any political party late to be delivered," was the comment of a man who remembered the campaign of 1893. He told how hard it was to get the Democrats to stay with the Democratic party, although the Populists in national convention had nominated Bryan, and Bryan stood for all the principles of the Populist party. At the same time they were delivered in such numbers as to give Bryan a larger vote than that cast for any Democratic candidate before or since.

Can't Turn Down Whitman.
One thing seems plainly apparent—the Republicans must nominate Whitman for governor of New York again. He is the personal and political friend of Hughes, the presidential candidate. He is in such a position that to nominate another candidate would disrupt the party. He will have a fight, but he made a good campaign two years ago and will be in the thick of things.

Not All Parlor Politics.
This is not going to be an entirely ladylike campaign. There will be a certain amount of hard hitting and perhaps mud slinging. One thing will lead to another, and there will be bitter political feeling displayed.

Houses In Bagdad.

A Bagdad house in the summer is a fiery furnace, and no one, unless his name be Shadrach or Meshach or Abednego, could live within its four walls with comfort, and yet the natives have made a brave attempt to overcome the difficulties of their situation. Deep in the ground they have built cellars, or serdabs, and these serve as cooling chambers. The cellars are kept pretty dark. "The light enters," says one who has lived there, "through small windows, or openings, where, instead of glass, is placed a lattice of palm filled with a prickly camel's thorn. Several times a day the occupants sprinkle water on these thorns, and the moisture cools the hot wind as it passes through the rooms and gives a comparatively refreshing breeze. But toward night these cellars become unbearably close, and then the entire city mounts to the flat roofs, where it dines and sleeps."—Boston Transcript.

Warships In Battle.

In the days of wooden war vessels two frigates, or line-of-battle ships, might be lashed together and fire shot into each other's interiors for an indefinite period. When Paul Jones was summoned to surrender he replied that he had not yet begun to fight. At a distance of eight miles there would not be much conversation between hostile commanders, even by signals, and after a vessel is hit there isn't much question as to its future. A vessel may be injured by gunfire and get away, but if a floating steel fort is hit below the armor belt by a torpedo or has its deck penetrated by a fifteen inch shell which meets expectations in the promptness of its explosions it does not remain in sight many minutes, and the crew can't float around on spars until they are picked up, for there are no spars. In ten minutes the formidable warship goes under and carries everybody on board.—Philadelphia Record.

Words and Actions.

"Is Biggins a patriot?"
"Yes. But he's the kind that would be more useful in a school of elocution than in a training camp."—Washington Star.

The Egyptians had canals before the days of St. Paul, but the lock canal which made it possible to cross mountains in a boat came only a few years before Columbus discovered America. To be told that Raphael in his spare moments when not painting a Raphael was constructing a locomotive would surely surprise you more than to be told that Leonardo da Vinci was a pioneer canal lock builder. But the hand that put upon the walls of that historic church in Milan "The Last Supper" also designed the locks for Milan's canal. That was just five years before another Italian from the nearby town of Genoa sailing a Spanish ship came to anchor at San Salvador. Before the lock system was born canals had to be on level ground, although in China they had them on slight inclines.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Green Flash of Sunset.
One of the most rarely witnessed of natural phenomena, but one that has often been discussed at scientific meetings and that always awakens wonder when seen, is the so-called "green flash" occasionally visible at the moment of the disappearance of the sun behind a clear horizon. The observer's eye must be fixed upon the rim of the sun as it disappears in order to catch the phenomenon. One authority tells us that he has seen the green flash, although rarely, at the instant of the setting of a bright star. Among the explanations offered is one based upon the optical principle of complementary colors. If one looks at the sun and then closes the eyes a green disk will be perceived. A sensitive eye might be similarly affected by a brilliant star.

STRIKE BILLS ARE CIRCULATED

Demand Eight Hour Day, Abolishment of Contract System, Increased Wages—No Disorder

Led by I. W. W. agitators, two hundred miners of the north Cuyuna iron range, mostly young men without families, walked out. The Croft mine closed down. The Armour No. 2 is affected. Both are underground mines.

Pit mines are not affected and work there is continuing full blast. One hundred and fifty strikers paraded Crosby and Ironton early this morning carrying flags. Strike bills were circulated which ask for an eight hour day, abolishment of the contract system, $3 a day for dry underground, $3.50 a day for wet underground, $2.75 for surface work, up and down the shaft on the company time, and that men be paid immediately when quitting.

Meetings were held Sunday morning in Workers hall, Crosby. So far it is reported, no demands have been made on the companies. There is no report of any disorder.

Clarence Van Essen likes the ladies and we will venture to say that the fair ones reciprocate. However, when in their presence he often loses control of his vocal chords. On a recent evening, while a guest at a fair one's home, his voice governor failed to work, and he was politely requested by his next-door neighbor to calm his voice so that others might sleep in the vicinity. "And I was only whispering lackadaisicality," said the human fog horn.

His friends, ever helpful, are assisting him in a search for a 1916 model voice governor, so that similar experiences might be avoided in the future. Some have suggested a Ford shock absorber.

Axel Lindbergh's four year old girl and Hans Hanson's little boy dropped out of sight and a search was made throughout Northeast Brainerd for the little ones. The Lindberghs formerly lived in Cuba and often talked of the southland.

"The Crosby baseball team went down to defeat again before the onslaughts of the Ironton team July 30, this time on the Ironton grounds" says the Crosby Courier. "It was simply a case of too much Smith and Schmidt, the pitcher and catcher procured by our sister village from the Northern League two weeks ago. Smith, with a variety of curves, drops, spit-balls, and speed bewildered our heaviest hitters, only two hits, both singles, being gotten off his delivery. Smith fanned six, walked none and hit none. Thirteen Crosby men went out at first. The final score was 3 to 0."

It's pretty early in the season to talk about hockey, an ice sport. However Ironton, says A. H. Proctor, is preparing to build a rink and will have one of the best teams in Minnesota. BRAINERD 2, IRONTON 1

Fastest Game of the Season Replete With Sensational A No. 1 Fielding by Both Sides

WHOLE TOWN IRONTON AT GAME

Smith and Schmidt Battery for Ironton, Former Duluth Northern League Players

ATTENDANCE 443.

Winner of rocker donated by B. C. McNamara, W. A. Christian, of 713 South Sixth street, with No. 438.

It was some game Sunday, a game which was anybody's game until the curtain range down in the tenth inning and Brainerd won 2 to 1 from Ironton. It was a game replete with sensational fielding, with fine battery work by Ironton's Smith and Schmidt battery, former Duluth Northern League players, faced by Brainerd's "Fat" Bowman and Tanner. Add to the work of these four some of the finest support given any pitchers on the local diamond, the field in excellent shape, a rather hot day, fifty or more Ironton autos and the Spina hotel busses in attendance, enthusiasm at white heat, Ironton tying the score in the eighth and everybody on edge from start to finish, and you have one of the best games ever seen on a Brainerd diamond.

Brainerd got its first run in the first inning. Longley fanned, Hoefler hit a two-bagger and Cook's single brought him in. It stayed 1 to 0 in favor of Brainerd until the eighth when Ironton took a reef in things. Schmidt singled, Victor bunted and the sacrifice drove Schmidt to second. Smith came to bat and Bowman shot down a fast one which took the Ironton pitcher squarely in his pitching wing. Russ ran for him. Jennings singled. Howard flew to Right Fielder Noel, and before he could whip the ball to the plate Schmidt scored. Then there was a roar from Ironton throats and honks from Ironton's fleet of automobiles.

Brainerd came to bat in the eighth and things looked blue, Longley and Templeton fanning and Hoefler went out second to first. No runs either side ninth inning.

In the tenth Victor made first on an error of Cook. He tried third on Smith's single and was caught there. Then came Templeton's sensational double play unassisted. Smith took a long lead from second and at the crack of Jennings' bat rounded third for home. Jennings' infield hit was speared by Templeton, who juggled the ball twice, held on to it and then ran to second and tagged the base. The side was out and the crowd cheered. The score by innings:

JUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

Jacob Kaupp Wins in His Suit Against the Security National Loan Co. and R. R. Livingston

In an opinion just filed, Judge W. S. McClenahan, of the district court, finds in favor of the plaintiff, Jacob Kaupp, in his action against the Security National Loan Company and R. R. Livingston. Crowell & Russell appeared for Mr. Kaupp and his wife, and Judge T. C. Blewitt represented the loan company and Livingston.

According to the findings of fact by Judge McClenahan, Kaupp is the owner of business property on Laurel street where his meat market is situated, the block being known as the Kaupp block. The defendant is the Security National Loan company, which is a corporation as alleged in the complaint, but for what purpose it is organized, says the opinion, "the amount of its capital stock, the exact nature of its business, and the character and amount of its property and assets do not appear."

Livingston was during all the time alleged the secretary and agent. On October 30, 1914, the loan company was acting as agent of the National Mercantile Co. On that date Kaupp applied to the mercantile company for a loan of $6,500, to be secured on the property named, and Livingston, acting as agent, agreed to negotiate the loan provided Kaupp would pay ten percent thereof or $650 in advance, but for what purpose such payment was to be made and was made does not now appear.

Kaupp paid the $650 to Livingston. "That no loan was ever made by the Mercantile company, pursuant to the agreement of October 13, 1914, or otherwise, but said sum of $650 was never repaid to Kaupp, except in the manner and to the extent hereinafter found."

On July 1, 1915, the Kaupps made, executed and delivered to the loan company through Livingston, their promissory note whereby they promised to pay the loan company $6,881.35 in eleven years from date, payments to be made yearly and in amounts specified. They also gave their mortgage deed, both being delivered to Livingston.

"That said mortgage deed was thereafter, but without the knowledge or consent of either the Kaupps, filed for record by Livingston and was actually recorded in the office of the register of deeds July 3, 1915.

On July 1, 1915, Livingston paid Jacob Kaupp $195. Nothing further was received by the Kaupps on account of the $650 paid or on the loan of the $6,500 sought. Livingston promised to pay $6,500 a day or two after July 1, 1915, but has never done so.

"That no stock or stock certificate was ever delivered to either of the Kaupps, nor did either of them ever agree to purchase any of such stock, or to become stockholders in said company."

As conclusions of law, Judge McClenahan found that the Kaupps are entitled to judgment cancelling and annulling the installment note and coupons, and mortgage deed and cancelling, annulling and discharging the record of same. That Jacob Kaupp is entitled to judgment against the defendants for $455 and interest at 6 per cent from October 30, 1914, together with his disbursements and $10 statutory costs. In his memorandum Judge McClenahan reviews various financial transactions as recorded in the evidence taken, which includes the Courtney mortgage, the Rosko mortgage, one question being:

"You had a mortgage on Kaupp's property for six months before you had any money to pay it with?"

Answer of Livingston: "We paid the interest."

In conclusion, said Judge McClenahan, "The defendants have $455 of Kaupp's money; they have failed to make the $6,500 loan, as agreed, and they have caused a mortgage for $6,381.35 to be recorded against his property. They are in no position to complain of the Rosko mortgage. They do not offer to change this situation unconditionally, nor do they ask that they be granted an opportunity to change it conditionally. So far as appears, they are satisfied with things as they are, and well they may be. Not only have they violated their agreement, but they now offend the equities.

NORTHEAST NEWS

Storm Damage Heavy

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—Detailed information today from the recent storm, show a damage of millions of dollars to property and crops through the Dakotas, Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Canada. The Equity Co-operative association, a northwest farmers marketing league, today estimated that the storm, coupled with recent rust, caused a fifty percent damage through North Dakota, and in some places in that state, indications point to a 70 percent damage. No fatalities were listed. Mrs. Roy Miller at McVie, N. D., was slightly injured by flying glass. In the village, $70,000 property damage was done. Tolna, N. D., sustained $100,000 property loss. Devils Lake, McHail and Hatton all in North Dakota, were hit hard. Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota also reported heavy damage.

Pres. Vincent a Rookie

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 7.—If Pres. George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota got into the Federal military camp at Plattsburgh, N. Y. today, as scheduled, he became "Rookie" Vincent, without the least reference to his perfectly good civilian title.

The camp will open Thursday. "Rookie" Vincent may, if he chooses, eat meals in five courses at one of Plattsburgh's palatial hotels until Thursday—but then his pork and beans for Vincent. Vincent will be under the command of a student of the University of which he is president.

Guardsmen are Paid

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—A wee bit of joy for the artillerymen still at Camp Bobleter concentration camp near here, was given life today when Major Gen. F. B. Wood handed to State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, checks for all the Minnesota guardsmen at Bobleter. The checks were signed late today and will be distributed tomorrow, after much delay.

"It's bad enough to be stuck here in Minnesota when the other fellows are on the border," said a member of the three batteries still here, "but to stick here without money—ugh."

Imported Strikebreakers Deported

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—Strikebreakers reported imported by the Great Northwestern Commercial Telegraph Co., will be deported as undesirable aliens, if a committee of employers that interviewed Attorney General Hudson today is successful. Hudson took their request under advisement. The men say a strike is inevitable. The majority of the strikers plan to move to the United States, to relieve an operators shortage in the States.

Geo. A. Tracy Receives Appointment

Mr. Tracy has been appointed as agent of the Atlas Assurance Company, one of the leading insurance companies of the world. This company paid the second largest loss at San Francisco, over $4,000,000 without discount.

This together with his other companies makes his agency one of the largest in the city and places him in a position to give his customers the best protection at the lowest cost. Your continued patronage is respectfully solicited by him.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Capt. A. R. McGuire's racer made the run Ironton to Brainerd in 28½ minutes. It is claimed. He drives a Kissel 70 horsepower car. Perched on the rim was one passenger, Pete Nelson, contractor. "Cap" had the car stripped down to four wheels, some springs, an engine, license number and a tank of gasoline. Everything was passed on the road.

Some of the cars making the trip numbered these auto owners and passengers: John H. Hill and family, Primus D. Kretter and family, J. A. Stetson and family, Theodore (Ted) Grimstad and family, G. P. Ellington and family, Phil Ellington and family, George Erickson and family, P. J. Long and family, A. H. Proctor and family, Emil Zontellie and family, Ray Hunter carrying eight in his Maxwell, Edward Krueger and family, O. Erickson and family, A. A. McKay and family, T. P. Mulvaney and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Pearce, L. T. Gavin and family, E. A. Lamb and family, William Seafeld and family, A. W. Smith and family, Chas. Stedfeldt and family (they are former Brainerd people), Horace Humphrey and family, D. B. McAlpine and family.

The reader will notice the frequent mention of families. Some of these Ironton men have six, eight, ten in the family and in each case it meant a car crowded to capacity.

An auto loaded to the guards carried John Adlesch, Bob Mayheu, O. R. Sandstrom, J. O. Marcetich, Dave Brassard, R. P. (Shorty) Huard and Henry Arneson.

In the first inning Cook tried to steal second. He missed by several feet and tore his pants to ribbons, safety pins and shoemakers wax loaned by Murlowski repairing the damage.

In the second inning Bush caught a long foul in left field.

In the excitement the mild man running the refreshment stand cut his hand with a pop bottle. Zimmer was there with "first aid" in the shape of bandages and liniment.

A. H. Proctor of Ironton, says he got Russ his first job playing ball on the range. Russ is a plumber and his former home was in Verdale.

In the seventh Benda made a fine running catch of a red hot grounder over second, scooping up the ball and whipping it to first on the dead run.

In the seventh Third Baseman Loomis made a fine throw after falling down, whirling the ball to Russ who caught it with one hand.

Ironton's best chances to cop a number of runs occurred in the 8th. It all started when Bowman hit Pitcher Smith on the hand. The side was retired when Hoefler scooped Loomis' vicious grounder out of the grass between second and first.

In the eighth there was an argument. Longley bunted as Bush was on first. Bush tore for second and Pitcher Smith hurled the ball to Second Baseman Mosher. Bush and many of the crowd claimed Mosher was two feet from the base. Umpire Malvaney said "Out."

BRAINERD 2, IRONTON 1

Fastest Game of the Season Replete With Sensational A No. 1 Fielding by Both Sides

WHOLE TOWN IRONTON AT GAME

Smith and Schmidt Battery for Ironton, Former Duluth Northern League Players

ATTENDANCE 443.

Winner of rocker donated by B. C. McNamara, W. A. Christian, of 713 South Sixth street, with No. 438.

It was some game Sunday, a game which was anybody's game until the curtain range down in the tenth inning and Brainerd won 2 to 1 from Ironton. It was a game replete with sensational fielding, with fine battery work by Ironton's Smith and Schmidt battery, former Duluth Northern League players, faced by Brainerd's well oiled machine, "Fat" Bowman and Tanner. Add to the work of these four some of the finest support given any pitchers on the local diamond, the field in excellent shape, a rather hot day, fifty or more Ironton autos and the Spina hotel busses in attendance, enthusiasm at white heat, Ironton tying the score in the eighth and everybody on edge from start to finish, and you have one of the best games ever seen on a Brainerd diamond.

Brainerd got its first run in the first inning. Longley fanned, Hoefler flew to Second Baseman Mosher. Templeton hit a two-bagger and Cook's single brought him in. It stayed 1 to 0 in favor of Brainerd until the eighth when Ironton took a reef in things. Schmidt singled. Victor bunted and the sacrifice drove Schmidt to second. Smith came to bat and Bowman shot down a fast one which took the Ironton pitcher squarely in his pitching wing. Russ ran for him. Jennings singled. Howard flew to Right Fielder Noel, and before he could whip the ball to the plate Schmidt scored. Then there was a roar from Ironton throats and hoofs from Ironton's fleet of automobiles.

Brainerd came to bat in the eighth and things looked blue, Longley and Templeton fanning and Hoefler went out second to first. No runs either side ninth inning.

In the tenth Victor made first on an error of Cook. He tried third on Smith's single and was caught there. Then came Templeton's sensational double play unassisted. Smith took a long lead from second and at the crack of Jennings' bat rounded third for home. Jennings' infield hit was speared by Templeton, who juggled the ball twice, held on to it and then ran to second and tagged the base. The side was out and the crowd cheered. The score by innings:

JUDGMENT FOR THE PLAINTIFF

Jacob Kaupp Wins in His Suit Against the Security National Loan Co. and R. R. Livingston

In an opinion just filed, Judge W. S. McClenahan, of the district court, finds in favor of the plaintiff, Jacob Kaupp, in his action against the Security National Loan Company and R. R. Livingston. Crowell & Russell appeared for Mr. Kaupp and his wife, and Judge T. C. Blewitt represented the loan company and Livingston.

According to the findings of fact by Judge McClenahan, Kaupp is the owner of business property on Laurel street where his meat market is situated, the block being known as the Kaupp block. The defendant is the Security National Loan company, which is a corporation as alleged in the complaint, but for what purpose it is organized, says the opinion, "the amount of its capital stock, the exact nature of its business, and the character and amount of its property and assets do not appear."

Livingston was during all the time alleged the secretary and agent. On October 30, 1914, the loan company was acting as agent of the National Mercantile Co. On that date Kaupp applied to the mercantile company for a loan of $6,500, to be secured on the property named, and Livingston, acting as agent, agreed to negotiate the loan provided Kaupp would pay ten percent thereof or $650 in advance, but for what purpose such payment was to be made and was made does not now appear.

Kaupp paid the $650 to Livingston. "That no loan was ever made by the Mercantile company, pursuant to the agreement of October 13, 1914, or otherwise, but said sum of $650 was never repaid to Kaupp, except in the manner and to the extent hereinafter found."

On July 1, 1915, the Kaupps made, executed and delivered to the loan company through Livingston, their promissory note whereby they promised to pay the loan company $6,581.35 in eleven years from date, payments to be made yearly and in amounts specified. They also gave their mortgage deed, both being delivered to Livingston.

"That said mortgage deed, was thereafter, but without the knowledge or consent of either the Kaupps, filed for record by Livingston and was actually recorded in the office of the register of deeds July 3, 1915."

On July 1, 1915, Livingston paid Jacob Kaupp $155. Nothing further was received by the Kaupps on account of the $650 paid or on the loan of the $6,500 sought. Livingston promised to pay $6,500 a day or two after July 1, 1915, but has never done so.

"That no stock or stock certificate was ever delivered to either of the Kaupps, nor did either of them ever agree to purchase any of such stock, or to become stockholders in said company."

As conclusions of law, Judge McClenahan found that the Kaupps are entitled to judgment cancelling and annulling the installment note and coupons, and mortgage deed and cancelling the record of same. That Jacob Kaupp is entitled to judgment against the defendants for $455 and interest at 6 per cent from October 30, 1914, together with his disbursements and $10 statutory costs.

In his memorandum Judge McClenahan reviews various financial transactions as recorded in the evidence taken, which includes the Courtney mortgage, the Rosko mortgage, one question being:

Answer of Livingston: "We paid the interest."

In conclusion, said Judge McClenahan, "The defendants have $455 of Kaupp's money; they have failed to make the $6,500 loan, as agreed, and they have caused a mortgage for $6,581.35 to be recorded against his property. They are in no position to complain of the Rosko mortgage. They do not offer to change this situation unconditionally, nor do they ask that they be granted an opportunity to change it conditionally. So far as appears, they are satisfied with things as they are, and well they may be. Not only have they violated their agreement, but they now offend the equities."

NORTHEAST NEWS

Storm Damage Heavy

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—Detailed information today from the recent storm, show a damage of millions of dollars to property and crops through the Dakotas, Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Canada. The Equity Co-operative association, a northwest farmers marketing league, today estimated that the storm, coupled with recent rust, caused a fifty percent damage through North Dakota, and in some places in that state, indications point to a 70 percent damage. No fatalities were listed. Mrs. Roy Miller at McVillie, N. D., was slightly injured by flying glass. In the village, $70,000 property damage was done. Tolna, N. D., sustained $100,000 property loss. Devils Lake, McFall and Hatton all in North Dakota, were hit hard. Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota also reported heavy damage.

Pres. Vincent a Rookie

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 7.—If Pres. George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota got into the Federal military camp at Plattsburgh, N. Y. today, as scheduled, he became "Rookie" Vincent, without the least reference to his perfectly good civilian title.

The camp will open Thursday. "Rookie" Vincent may, if he chooses, eat meals in five courses at one of Plattsburgh's platial hotels until Thursday—but then its pork and beans for Vincent. Vincent will be under the command of a student of the University of which he is president.

Guardsmen are Paid

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 7.—A wee bit of joy for the artillerymen still at Camp Bobleter concentration camp near here, was given life today when Major Gen. F. B. Wood handed to State Auditor J. A. O. Preus, checks for all the Minnesota guardsmen at Bobleter. The checks were signed late today and will be distributed tomorrow, after much delay.

"It's had enough to be stuck here in Minnesota when the other fellows are on the border," said a member of the three batteries still here, "but to stick here without money—ugh."

Imported Strikebreakers Reported

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—Strikebreakers reported imported by the Great Northwestern Commercial Telegraph Co., will be deported as undesirable aliens, if a committee of employers that interviewed Attorney General Hudson today is successful. Hudson took their request under advisement. The men say a strike is inevitable. The majority of the strikers plan to move to the United States, to relieve an operators shortage in the States.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Capt. A. R. McGuire's racer made the run Ironton to Brainerd in 28½ minutes, it is claimed. He drives a Kissel 70 horsepower car. Perched on the rim was one passenger, Pete Nelson, contractor. "Cap" had the car stripped down to four wheels, some springs, an engine, license number and a tank of gasoline. Everything was passed on the road.

Some of the cars making the trip numbered these auto owners and passengers: John H. Hill and family, Primus D. Krellter and family, J. A. Stetson and family, Theodore (Ted) Grinstad and family, G. P. Ellingson and family, Phil Ellingson and family, George Erickson and family, P. J. Long and family, A. H. Proctor and family, Emil Zontelle and family, Ray Hunter carrying eight in his Maxwell, Edward Krueger and family, O. Erickson and family, A. A. McKay and family, T. P. Mulvaney and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Pearce, L. T. Gavin and family, E. A. Lamb and family, William Seafeld and family, A. W. Smith and family, Chas. Stedfeldt and family (they are former Brainerd people), Horace Humphrey and family, D. B. McAlpine and family.

The reader will notice the frequent mention of families. Some of these Ironton men have six, eight, ten in the family and in each case it meant a car crowded to capacity.

An auto loaded to the guards carried John Adieatch, Bob Mayheu, O. R. Sandstrom, J. O. Marcetich, Dave Brassard, R. P. (Shorty) Huard and Henry Arneson.

In the first inning Cook tried to steal second. He missed by several feet and tore his pants to ribbons, safety pins and shoemakers wax loaned by Murielowski repairing the damage.

In the second inning Bush caught a long foul in left field.

In the excitement the mild man running the refreshment stand cut his hand with a pop bottle. Zimmer was there with "first aid" in the shape of bandages and liniment.

A. H. Proctor of Ironton, says he got Russ his first job playing ball on the range. Russ is a plumber and his former home was in Verndale.

In the seventh Benda made a fine running catch of a red hot grounder over second, scooping up the ball and whipping it to first on the dead run.

In the seventh Third Baseman Loomis made a fine throw after falling down, whirling the ball to Russ who caught it with one hand.

Ironton's best chances to cop a number of runs occurred in the 8th. It all started when Bowman hit Pitcher Smith on the hand. The side was retired when Hoefler scooped Loomis' vicious grounder out of the grass between second and first.

In the eighth there was an argument. Longley bunted as Bush was on first. Bush tore for second and Pitcher Smith hurled the ball to Second Baseman Mosher. Bush and many of the crowd claimed Mosher was two feet from the base. Umpire Malvaney said "Out."

Care With Mushrooms.

Mushrooms, on account of the amount of nitrogen they contain, approach nearer to animal food than many other vegetable products. An analysis shows that mushrooms contain 3.5 per cent protoids, boiled potatoes 2.5 and onions 1.6. Experts say that mushrooms should be eaten perfectly fresh and never eaten after being "warmed over."

Salary of the President.

In the second sessions of the Sixtieth congress the president's salary was fixed at $75,000 a year, and in addition he is allowed $25,000 for traveling expenses, which is practically extra salary, as he does not have to return any of it not used for traveling expenses.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Water For the Baby.

Infants suffer from not having enough water to drink. Babies are thirsty and frequently cry from the discomfort due to thirst.

In proportion to its weight an average infant during the first year of life requires a little more than six times as much water as an adult. During the time when the child is upon an entirely fluid diet the addition of much water other than that supplied by the food is unnecessary. The food (breast milk) of all young mammals consists of from 80 to 90 per cent of water. This is needed for the solution of certain parts of the food, such as the sugar and some of the proteids, and for the suspension of the other proteids and the emulsified fat. All the food is thus dissolved and minutely divided so as to be the more readily acted upon by the feeble digestive organs of the infant.

When the feeding becomes less frequent water to drink (from a bottle with a nipple on it) should be given to drink between the feedings. In summer time especially babies suffer a great deal from thirst.

An Optimist's Essay.

A pessimist is a son of the man who didn't believe there was any such thing as electricity.

He is an offspring of the man who was sure that the horseless carriage would never come, and a nephew of the man who was willing to bet money that men would never fly.

A pessimist is a direct descendant of the man who was sure that wireless telegraphy was a fool's dream and a submarine merely the creation of a fiction writer's brain.

The pessimist's ancestry scoffed at the telephone, the typewriting machine, the twenty story building, anesthetics and every forward step the optimists have taken for the betterment of human life.

If the pessimists of the past had been right men would still be living in caves and trying to get their meals with clubs and flint arrows. And evidently they died without publicly confessing their mistakes, for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy dismally that everything that is surely going to be cannot possibly come to pass. They seem to be born with the habit and cannot get over it.—Detroit Free Press.

Speed of Bullets.

The rate of fall of the bullet from the line of projection is fixed by the laws of gravity, hence the more rapidly the bullet is made to pass from the rifle to the target the flatter will be this curve or "trajectory," the less accurate the estimation of distance required and the less the chances of error through an inaccurate estimate of distance.

The normal velocities of our sporting rifles, in black powder days, were about 1,300 feet per second. The first of the small bore, high power, smokeless variety raised this to 2,000 f. s. for bullets of military length and 2,200 for shorter sporting bullets. Now it has gone up to 3,100 f. s. The burning questions asked again and again by the rifleman are, "Where will we stop?" "Will the 4,000 f. s. bullet come next?"

Cultivating Amusements.

Don't provide inducements to get a child to love amusements. It may encourage a habit that will sadly interfere with a sincere and useful life. Don't make a boy feel that he cannot waste too much time in having fun and entering to his senses. Life is real and earnest, and amusement is admissible at times, but should not be the rule. The manly youth is for fun, but he is not always engaged in striving for his own pleasure. He should not be educated into that idea of life. He should not be furnished with inclinations away from what is true and real in life. It is a serious matter tempering with a youth's nobler aspiration. Providing amusement is apt to prove an unnatural adjunct in education.—Columbus Journal.

Japanese Translations.

A writer in a Tokyo journal reports the struggles of Japanese writers to translate English idioms into their own tongue. We cite several of these howlers. "We put our heads together" (We collided). "He could not find it for the life of him" (He could not discover it till his death). "He is a great loss to his country" (He is a great calamity to his country). "He hung his head for shame" (He committed suicide by strangulation). "He takes things easily" (He is a deft thief). "She sat over a cup of tea" (She sat upon a teacup). "I shudder at the bare idea" (I shudder to think that the man is naked). "The bare idea" is evidently translated into "the idea of bareness." "Spare me five minutes" (Spare my life—only for five minutes).

CHEERFULNESS.

Cheerfulness is a virtue that every one should cultivate. Cheerfulness is a thing to be more profoundly grateful for than all genius ever inspired or talent accomplished. Next best to spontaneous cheerfulness is deliberate, intended and persistent cheerfulness, which we can create, cultivate and so foster and cherish that after a few years the world will never suspect that it was not a hereditary gift.—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Horses in the Time of Homer.

The horses used in Homer's time were war horses. The warriors were drawn in chariots. The art of riding was known, but it is alluded to as something unusual. Ulysses at the time of his shipwreck "bestrode a plank, like a horseman on a big steed." There are reasons for believing that the practice of riding was much later than that of driving, and the myth of the centaur, where, according to Shakespeare, "man is incorporated and dematerialized with the beast," probably originated at an early period when the appearance of a man on horseback was a novel sight.

Too Costly.

At one of the Boston theaters recently there was shown on the screen a picture of a stock exchange. The brokers were hurrying about, pushing, waving their arms, gesticulating and to the uninitiated acting like a lot of insane men. Two young ladies in the balcony watched them with breathless interest for some time, then one asked: "Why in the world don't they sit down and rest once in awhile?" "My dear," was the enlightening answer, "don't you know that a seat in the Stock Exchange costs thousands of dollars?"—Harper's Magazine.

Two Kinds of Joy.

The joys as well as the burdens of life are pretty evenly divided between the sexes after all, and probably a little girl derives as much innocent pleasure from being a flower girl at a wedding as a little boy does from going to school with a live garter snake in his trousers pocket.—Ohio State Journal.

The Man Behind the Message.

The value of a thing depends largely upon who says it. Words may be bullets, but character must be the powder at the back of them to give them projectile force. The man behind the message is as important as the man behind the gun.

High Tide.

The feminine naïveté that is so amusing to the nautical man has a good illustration in this question asked by a young woman who saw a monitor lying at anchor in Boston harbor. She turned to her escort and said: "What makes that boat lie so low in the water? Is it high tide?"—Sailors' Magazine.

Pope's Preference.

The Prince of Wales of Pope's time once said to the poet: "Mr. Pope, do you not like kings?" "Sir," replied the poet, "I prefer the lion before the claws are grown."

Safety First.

Knicker-Polks are queer. Bocker—Yes; the ones who stop, look and listen at a keyhole won't do it at a railroad crossing.—New York Sun.

HUGHES BEGINS SPEAKING TOUR

SOLDIER STOPS HIS AUTO

Canadian Sentry Searches Machine of Republican Presidential Nominee for Explosives—Candidate Merely Remarks "That's Preparedness."

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 7.—At the point of a fixed bayonet in the hands of a Canadian soldier near the boundary Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, was held up while the automobile in which he was riding was searched for explosives.

When the soldier was told Mr. Hughes' identity he replied with a grin that he was sorry, but could make no exceptions in his case as his orders were peremptory to search all cars passing into Canada. Mrs. Hughes was with her husband when the guard accosted them.

Mr. Hughes' only comment was "that's preparedness."

The Republican nominee spent Sunday at Niagara Falls and with his wife attended church in the morning, later leaving for an automobile ride into Canada. Late at night he continued his westward bound campaign trip with Detroit as the immediate objective. At that city he will make two speeches tonight. At Mr. Hughes' request there was no public reception here.

Chairman Willcox of the national committee left the party for Chicago, where he will confer with party leaders to select a head for the Western headquarters of the committee.

INCOMES OF $2,000 NOW TO BE TAXED

Washington, Aug. 7.—Reduction in the income tax exemption from $3,000 to $2,000 for single persons and from $4,000 to $3,000 for those with families was ordered recommended to the senate by Democratic members of the finance committee who are revising the house revenue bill.

The amendment prevailed by a majority of only one vote.

The subcommittee on the munitions section of the revenue bill, it was definitely announced, had voted to reduce the proposed excise tax on production of copper and to add to the munitions list an excise tax on products of lead, zinc, iron and steel.

COTTON CROP IS VALUED AT $958,300,000.

New Orleans, Aug. 7.—The country's commercial cotton crop, exclusive of seed, for the cotton year was valued at $765,709,560, compared to $593,432,978 the previous year and $977,844,114 for 1913-14, according to H. C. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans Cotton exchange.

Including seed the total value of the year's crop was placed at $958,300,000.

SALE OF WEST INDIES ANGRERS DANISH PRESS

London, Aug. 7.—Some of the Danish conservative papers have opened a violent attack on the government over the treaty with the United States for the sale of the Danish West Indies, according to a Copenhagen dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company. The National Tidende says:

"In a question of such great importance for the whole nation the government acted in a manner such as its worst antagonists would not have believed it capable of. Nobody but the Danish government would have risked such a course."

On the other hand the Politiken points out that Denmark several times attempted to utilize the islands, but her efforts were in vain.

This paper says that under the present war conditions the islands might become a danger to Danish neutrality and that it might be difficult for Denmark to defend them from encroachment.

WINNIPEG BREAD 6 CENTS

Price to Advance Tuesday as Result of Soar in Wheat.

Winnipeg, Aug. 7.—Bread prices will advance to 6 cents a loaf in Winnipeg Tuesday as a result of flour increases of 80 cents per barrel the past week due to the continued rise in wheat. The bakers of the city declare they must raise their prices in order to avoid operating at a loss.

Sensational advances in wheat the past few days, coupled with reports of great crop damage in Western Canada, have caused the boom in flour.

How the Trouble Began.

It was a bright, sunny Tuesday morning and Mrs. Brown was on the roof preparing to hang out her wash, when Mrs. Jones appeared on the scene carrying a basket of clothes.

"What are you doing here?" demanded Mrs. Jones. "Monday is your day for hangin' out clothes."

"I know it is," replied Mrs. Brown, removing the clothespins from her mouth so she could articulate more clearly, "but it rained yesterday, an' I'm hangin' 'em out today instead. Tuesday belongs to the fourth floor back, an' that's vacant, so I guess I've got as good a right here as anybody else. What is it to you, anyhow? Wednesday is your day."

"Wednesday is my day, all right," admitted Mrs. Jones, "but the paper says it's goin' to rain tomorrow, an' I ain't takin' any chances. You take them rags of yours downstairs again, or I'll throw 'em off the roof!"

And that's how the trouble began.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Theft in Ancient Wales.

In some ways which might nowadays be called "sentimental" the laws of ancient Wales were in advance of those of today. J. E. Lloyd in his "History of Wales" mentions that in some of the codes (which were, as a rule, very severe on theft) a remarkable provision exempted from punishment "the starving man who, after begging for three days and receiving nothing, helped himself to the food which he needed in order to keep him alive. That every man had the right to live was a principle of the law, and the sentiment of the country demanded that every person of substance should keep open house not only for ordinary travelers, but also for the destitute and the friendless."

African Grosbeaks.

The social grosbeaks of South Africa live in large societies. They select a tree of considerable size and literally cover it with a grass roof, under which their common dwelling is constructed. The roof serves the double purpose of keeping off the heat and the rain, and 400 or 500 pairs of birds are known to have the same shelter. The nests in this aerial dwelling are built in regular streets and closely resemble rows of tenement houses.

Sure Bait.

"How did you manage to sell that piece of goods that's all out of date to Mrs. Hild?"

"Clerk—I told her it was a great bargain, but I thought Mrs. Richeson had had it laid aside for one of her daughters. Then she took it right off."

Happiness.

"There is an instinct in the heart of man which makes him fear a cloudless happiness. It seems to him that he owes to misfortune a tithe of his life, and that which he does not pay bears interest, is amassed and largely swells a debt which sooner or later he must acquit."

Only on the Outside.

"Why, Ethel, you don't mean to tell me you want to marry that baldheaded Professor Wiseman?"

"It is true he is bald," said Ethel, "but think how many young men of today are bald on the inside of their heads."

Its Risk.

"A kiss may often have deeper meaning than appears."

"Perhaps, but it is a thing you have to take on its face value."—Baltimore American.

Paste This on the Family Tool Chest.

The idea of this cabinet is to furnish amusement to the family when they have scratched up all the furniture and done all the damage elsewhere they can think of; therefore

Do not replace or put back anything that you take out of these drawers.

Try, if possible, to select and remove from this cabinet some article or tool that is absolutely indispensable, leaving it preferably out in the back yard.

If you have anything hanging about your room that is of no earthly use you might store it in one of these drawers.

Remember that the main idea of having this cabinet on the premises is gradually to fill it with utterly useless things.

Sawse Sawge.

Here is the old King Richard II. way of making sausage: "Pyggs in sawse sawge," or pigs with sage sauce. "Take pyggs yskaldid (scalded) and quarter them and seeth them in water and salt; take them and let them kele (cool); take parsley (parsley), sawge (sage) and grynde it with brede and yolkes of ayren (eggs) harde ysode (boiled); temper it with vinegar somewhat thick, and lay the pyggs in a vessel and sewe onward (the sauce over them), and serve it forth." "Take pyggs" is pretty good. Size or number seems of no consequence.

Care With Mushrooms.

Mushrooms, on account of the amount of nitrogen they contain, approach nearer to animal food than many other vegetable products. An analysis shows that mushrooms contain 3.5 per cent proteins, boiled potatoes 2.5 and onions 1.6. Experts say that mushrooms should be eaten perfectly fresh and never eaten after being "warmed over."

In the second sessions of the Sixtieth congress the president's salary was fixed at $75,000 a year, and in addition he is allowed $25,000 for traveling expenses, which is practically extra salary, as he does not have to return any of it as he does not for traveling expenses.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Water For the Baby.

Infants suffer from not having enough water to drink. Babies are thirsty and frequently cry from the discomfort due to thirst.

In proportion to its weight an average infant during the first year of life requires a little more than six times as much water as an adult. During the time when the child is upon an entirely fluid diet the addition of much water other than that supplied by the food is unnecessary. The food (breast milk) of all young mammals consists of from 80 to 90 per cent of water. This is needed for the solution of certain parts of the food, such as the sugar and some of the proteins, and for the suspension of the other proteins and the emulsified fat. All the food is thus dissolved and minutely divided so as to be the more readily acted upon by the feeble digestive organs of the infant.

When the feeding becomes less frequent water to drink (from a bottle with a nipple on it) should be given to drink between the feedings. In summer time especially babies suffer a great deal from thirst.

An Optimist's Essay.

A pessimist is a son of the man who didn't believe there was any such thing as electricity.

He is an offspring of the man who was sure that the horseless carriage would never come, and a nephew of the man who was willing to bet money that men would never fly.

A pessimist is a direct descendant of the man who was sure that wireless telegraphy was a fool's dream and a submarine merely the creation of a fiction writer's brain.

The pessimist's ancestry scoffed at the telephone, the typewriting machine, the twenty story building, anaesthetics and every forward step the optimists have taken for the betterment of human life.

If the pessimists of the past had been right men would still be living in caves and trying to get their meals with clubs and flint arrows. And evidently they died without publicly confessing their mistakes, for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy diametrically that everything that is surely going to be cannot possibly come to pass. They seem to be born with the habit and cannot get over it.—Detroit Free Press.

Speed of Bullets.

The rate of fall of the bullet from the line of projection is fixed by the laws of gravity, hence the more rapidly the bullet is made to pass from the rifle to the target the flatter will be this curve or "trajectory," the less accurate the estimation of distance required and the less the chances of error through an inaccurate estimate of distance.

The normal velocities of our sporting rifles, in black powder days, were about 1,300 feet per second. The first of the small bore, high power, smokeless variety raised this to 2,000 f. s. for bullets of military length and 2,200 for shorter sporting bullets. Now it has gone up to 3,100 f. s. The burning questions asked again and again by the rifleman are, "Where will we stop?" "Will the 4,000 f. s. bullet come next?"

Cultivating Amusements.

Don't provide inducements to get a child to love amusements. It may encourage a habit that will sadly interfere with a sincere and useful life. Don't make a boy feel that he cannot waste too much time in having fun and entering to his senses. Life is real and earnest, and amusement is admissible at times, but should not be the rule. The manly youth is for fun, but he is not always engaged in striving for his own pleasure. He should not be educated into that idea of life. He should not be furnished with incitements away from what is true and real in life. It is a serious matter tempering with a youth's nobler aspiration. Providing amusement is apt to prove an unnatural adjunct in education.—Columbus Journal.

Japanese Translations.

A writer in a Tokyo journal reports the struggles of Japanese writers to translate English idioms into their own tongue. We cite several of the howlers. "We put our heads together" (We collided). "He could not find it for the life of him" (He could not discover it till his death). "He is a great loss to his country" (He is a great calamity to his country). "He hung his head for shame" (He committed suicide by strangulation). "He takes things easily" (He is a deft thief). "She sat over a cup of tea" (She sat upon a teacup). "I shudder at the bare idea" (I shudder to think that the man is naked). "The bare idea" is evidently translated into "the idea of bareness." "Spare me five minutes" (Spare my life—only for five minutes).

CHEERFULNESS.

Cheerfulness is a virtue that every one should cultivate. Cheerfulness is a thing to be more profoundly grateful for than all genius ever inspired or talent accomplished. Next best to spontaneous cheeriness is deliberate, intended and persistent cheeriness, which we can create, cultivate and so foster and cherish that after a few years the world will never suspect that it was not a hereditary gift.—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Horses in the Time of Homer.

The horses used in Homer's time were war horses. The warriors were drawn in chariots. The art of riding was known, but it is alluded to as something unusual. Ulysses at the time of his shipwreck "bestrode a plank, like a horseman on a big steed." There are reasons for believing that the practice of riding was much later than that of driving, and the myth of the centaur, where, according to Shakespeare, "man is incorporated and dematerialized with the beast," probably originated at an early period when the appearance of a man on horseback was a novel sight.

Too Costly.

At one of the Boston theaters recently there was shown on the screen a picture of a stock exchange. The brokers were hurrying about, pushing, waving their arms, gesticulating and to the uninitiated nothing like a lot of insane men. Two young ladies in the balcony watched them with breathless interest for some time, then one asked: "Why in the world don't they sit down and rest once in awhile?" "My dear," was the enlightening answer, "don't you know that a seat in the Stock Exchange costs thousands of dollars?"—Harper's Magazine.

Two Kinds of Joy.

The joys as well as the burdens of life are pretty evenly divided between the sexes after all, and probably a little girl derives as much innocent pleasure from being a flower girl at a wedding as a little boy does from going to school with a live garter snake in his trousers pocket.—Ohio State Journal.

The Man Behind the Message.

The value of a thing depends largely upon who says it. Words may be bullets, but character must be the powder at the back of them to give them projectile force. The man behind the message is as important as the man behind the gun.

High Tide.

The feminine naivete that is so amusing to the nautical man has a good illustration in this question asked by a young woman who saw a monitor lying at anchor in Boston harbor. She turned to her escort and said: "What makes that boat lie so low in the water? Is it high tide?"—Sailors' Magazine.

Pope's Preference.

The Prince of Wales of Pope's time once said to the poet: "Mr. Pope, do you not like kings?" "Sir," replied the poet, "I prefer the lion before the claws are grown."

Safety First.

Knecker-Polks are queer. Bocker—Yes; the ones who stop, look and listen at a keyhole won't do it at a railroad crossing.—New York Sun.

SOLDIER STOPS HIS AUTO

Canadian Sentry Searches Machine of Republican Presidential Nominee for Explosives—Candidate Merely Remarks "That's Preparedness."

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 7.—At the point of a fixed bayonet in the hands of a Canadian soldier near the boundary Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, was held up while the automobile in which he was riding was searched for explosives.

When the soldier was told Mr. Hughes' identity he replied with a grin that he was sorry, but could make no exceptions in his case as his orders were peremptory to search all cars passing into Canada. Mrs. Hughes was with her husband when the guard accosted them.

Mr. Hughes' only comment was "that's preparedness."

The Republican nominee spent Sunday at Niagara Falls and with his wife attended church in the morning, later leaving for an automobile ride into Canada. Late at night he continued his westward bound campaign trip with Detroit as the immediate objective. At that city he will make two speeches tonight. At Mr. Hughes' request there was no public reception here.

Chairman Willcox of the national committee left the party for Chicago, where he will confer with party leaders to select a head for the Western headquarters of the committee.

INCOMES OF $2,000 NOW TO BE TAXED

Washington, Aug. 7.—Reduction in the income tax exemption from $3,000 to $2,000 for single persons and from $4,000 to $3,000 for those with families was ordered recommended to the senate by Democratic members of the finance committee who are revising the house revenue bill.

The amendment prevailed by a majority of only one vote.

The subcommittee on the munitions section of the revenue bill, it was definitely announced, had voted to reduce the proposed excise tax on production of copper and to add to the munitions list an excise tax on products of lead, zinc, iron and steel.

Including seed the total value of the year's crop was placed at $958,300,000.
